JAMGHAT - A GROUP OF STREET CHILDREN

18-A, MIG FLATS, SHEIKH SARAI, PHASE-1, TRIVENI PHASE,
NEW DELHI-110017

FROM THE DIRECTOR'S DESK

The second wave of COVID-19 has significantly impacted children, especially those living in children's homes. Many of these children have experienced difficult circumstances in their lives and the pandemic has disrupted their routine and limited their access to education, healthcare, and social support. What children missed most was meeting their friends and play, the natural ways of learning, and hence there were learning losses.

We had to restrict the visitors to prevent the spread of the virus, and this led to increased feelings of isolation and loneliness among children who are already separated from their families. Our focus therefore in this year was to spend quality time with them and make the best out of the tough times. Arrangements were made to continue fun, interactions and learnings online in our residential homes. Due to pandemic, our Day Care Centre for children living on streets remained closed and 50-70 children who used to visit us could not avail the facilities. Although we continued the outreach and provided them the relief that was available.

This year also marked the year of expansion and strengthening of our outreach program. With support of Azim Premji Foundation, we started new project- SADAK in 5 locations of Delhi which aims to benefit 180 children living in slums. Jamghat continues to work with 27 children through 02 residential homes. Our Day care centre for street children supports another 50 children thus creating difference in lives of around 250 children.

Overall, the second wave of COVID-19 has highlighted the need for stronger community support for children, including those living in children's homes or those living on streets. We were able to keep children of Jamghat safe only with the support of our long-term partners, donors and volunteers.

Thank You,

AMIT KUMAR SINHA
(Founder/Director of Jamghat)

Our Mission

- ❖ To use street and stage theatre as a tool to nurture self confidence in children and build awareness in our society about key social issues related to child protection and care.

Our Values

- ❖ Non- violence
- ❖ Equality & respect
- ❖ Democratic participation
- ❖ Integrity
- ❖ Dignity / humility
- ❖ Simplicity & creativity
- ❖ Courage of conviction

Our Objectives

- ❖ Provide a residential program to children who are without a safe home or family.
- ❖ Encourage and support reconciliation with families whenever possible.
- ❖ Connect street children and the larger population through volunteerism and theatre.
- ❖ Build volunteer and staff capacity to understand and address issues concerning street children.
- ❖ Create an environment where street children are respected as individuals working for their livelihood.

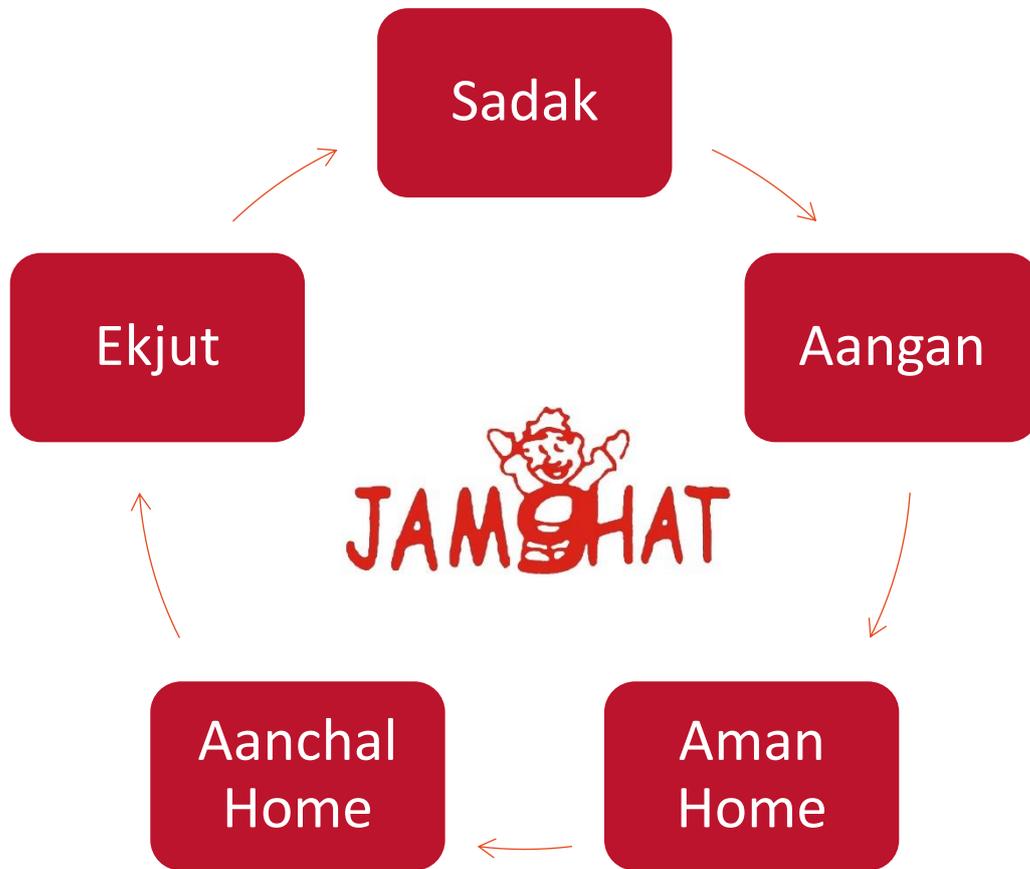

Our Creative Beginning

In 2003, Action Aid India forwarded a grant to design a play about life on the streets. Fourteen street children came together with theatre artists Amit Sinha and Lokesh Jain, and their lives were forever changed. The play was performed for Prince Charles, and was such a success that it travelled in India and abroad for the next 3 months. The experience nurtured self-confidence and a feeling of capability in the children. They realized this and refused to return to the streets. Despite lack of funds, they decided to live together and continued spreading awareness through theatre. Jamghat, a lively gathering, was thus born. From this unplanned beginning, Jamghat has grown into the holistic organization it is today.

Jamghat is since then working to create a space for children to live joyfully with freedom and learn collectively. Started as a group of street children performing street plays, Jamghat today works with more than 250 children with a holistic approach that provides education, vocational training, counselling, health care, theatre opportunities, and emotional support to street children. Jamghat has further identified the lives of children intricately linked to their mothers and thus initiated work on livelihood for women living and working on streets with violence and harassment always surrounding them.

Jamghat Programs

Jamghat reach out to children living on streets through community outreach and identify and engage with children and their caregivers. This year we have created a more structured outreach program SADAK where children are supported holistically.

Children are then motivated to join Aangan a day care centre situated at Jama Masjid. It is a program where 50-60 children gather every morning and provide them, for at least the majority of the day, an environment with basic amenities and healthcare, a place where they can feel safe while also receiving, food, their own locker to keep their belongings and formal & non- formal education.

Children Homes: Aanchal (girls' home) & Aman (boys' home) are long term home for children in need of care and protection. These homes are equipped to provide basic amenities to the resident children like hygienic and comfortable living conditions with opportunities to meaningfully engage in activities for their physical and emotional well-being.

Ekjut, is a vocational training unit and income generation project that strives to contribute towards the economic sustenance of street adolescent girls and women by manufacturing and delivering artisanal handbags, laptop sleeves, file folders etc. and other bespoke accessories.

Theatre/Street Plays: Jamghat has its origin from theatre and thus uses these skills to its advantage. Jamghat uses theatre as a medium to engage with children and also organize stage and street plays on various socio-economic issues or conducting workshops.

Aman Home for boys

Aman is the First Children's home that Jamghat started, and more than 10 children who spent some of their reformatory years here are now earning their own livelihood with dignity and self-worth. Aman is now a registered long term children's residential home recognized by the Women & Child Department, Government of India.

Currently, Aman is home for 15 boys who were found to be in need of care & protection. Aman is located in Malviya Nagar, Delhi. The boys residing here are aged between 6-18 years who come from a varied social background and are now living their childhood in a family like environment. All of the children are enrolled in formal schooling except one child who has special needs and gets support from AADI.

This year 02 boys passed out from Aman home. One of the boys was reunited with his 03 other biological siblings who have also stayed in Jamghat homes and are now reunited. They are living in a rented apartment and two of the elder siblings are earning while other 02 are continuing their higher education.

Aanchal Home for girls

With Aman home for boys in place, Jamghat continued working with children living on streets of Jama Masjid area. Children would continuously approach Jamghat team and share they too wish to stay in Jamghat's home, especially the girls. They would continuously ask why there is no such home for girls and thus with support of iPartner India Aanchal home for girls was started in 2010 to ensure safe and secure environment to girls in need of care & protection. The Girls residing here are aged between 6-18 years who come from difficult social backgrounds. Aanchal was then formed as per the guidelines of Juvenile Justice Act and registered with Women & Child Department of GoI.

During the current year total 14 girls stayed in Aanchal and focus was on their education apart from the other developmental needs. Total 04 girls were restored with their biological / extended families on tuning 18 years and 02 new girls arrived during the year in Aanchal.

Key interventions in Aman and Aanchal Home & Aangan Day Care

Education: -

Month of January again showed spike in infection and return of lockdown. With the lockdown schools were closed again and return to online mode of education. Children of Jamghat homes are studying in various schools of Delhi such as Little Ones Public School, Ryan International School, Ramanujan Sarvodya Kanya School, Lal Bahadur Shastri Samrak JAVM Sr. Sec. School, R.K. International School, Sarvodya Bal Vidyalaya, AADI Institute, and some of them are also enrolled in NIOS. Managing online classes with limited computers and laptops was a challenge. Lockdown impacted children in various ways but closure of school has impacted them the most. Apart from the learning loss what children have missed most is being with their friends, the natural way of learning.

In spite of all hurdles children prepared for their final exams and those who appeared for final exams cleared their exams and were promoted to next grade. 01 child of Aanchal home secured 8th position in class 9th. Some children who are studying 9th, 10th class they will be appearing for their final exams in the month of April-2022.

To ensure no child is left behind in basic learning skills, DCPR's reading campaign continued in Aanchal and Aman home on a regular basis specially for younger children. DCPCR's designated team also visited in both homes and provided reading campaign training to Jamghat educators of both homes.

Apart from the campaign children received education support from Educators helping in all subjects and ensured children understood the concepts. Children attended regular online classes but with reduced number of cases in Delhi and government orders elder children of class 9th and 10th started going to school as per school schedule for the term-1 exam. Coordinators of Aanchal home attended parent teacher meetings in schools to discuss about children.

NSS student volunteers of JIMS (Jagan Institute of Management Studies) helped children of Aanchal & Aman in their studies by taking subject classes online. Total 33 volunteers were involved in conducting online sessions. They taught subjects like English, Social Studies, Science, Hindi, Art & Craft etc.

Individual volunteers from Amity University also volunteered in Aanchal & Aman Home for helping children in studies.

Health and Nutrition

Second wave of Covid-19 pandemic in India caused havoc on lives of everyone. There was fear everywhere and only precautions and staying alert was the way out. Jamghat's 'On Call Doctor' Dr. Varsha was available on telephone call and if needed children were referred to Safdarjung Hospital, Pt. Madan Mohan Malviya Hospital, Malviya Nagar.

Coordinators and caretakers took care of children living in Jamghat homes very well and completely followed COVID-19 guidelines on safety and security. Children did regular yoga in both homes and caretakers regularly checked oxygen level of each child in both homes. Special and extra diet that included fruits and vegetables to boost the immunity of children was provided during the second wave of Covid-19. Regular counselling was conducted to ensure good mental and physical health of children. With all these efforts we were able to keep all our children safe and none of our children living in residential homes got infected with Covid-19.

During 2nd wave of Covid-19 Jamghat immediately arranged for 1st dose of Covid-19 vaccination for all staffs actively working with children. Caretakers, educators, coordinators were given the priority. Apart from staff 03 young adults, who had passed out from Aanchal and Aman Home were also vaccinated.

In the month of May, we conducted a health check-up of all children in Aman home. Check Up was conducted by Dr. Shweta Virmani and suggested necessary treatment plan for children as per need. Both homes planned and provided proper diet for the children.

On 30th June, with the help of AIIMS Dentist team, a dental health camp was organized in Aanchal Home for children of both homes and staff. The main aim of the camp was to provide basic dental check-up and dental health education to our children and motivate them for dental hygiene.

With the support of British High Commission in the month of March, annual health camp was conducted for children and staff of Jamghat. Necessary pathological tests were conducted of all children in both homes and as per need doctor prescribed medicines and supplements.

Sessions and Workshops

Interactive sessions, workshops and activities are fun for children and provide several benefits for child's social and behavioural skills. These sessions also help children to learn important lessons while still having great time. Interactive learning sessions also provide space for children to bond with those around them and create a positive environment. Year round several volunteers and organisations were approached and relevant sessions were conducted.

It is important to make children aware about seriousness of climate change and encourage them to participate in creating a brighter future. The environmental session continued with some DIY sessions with children, to enhance their creativity.

Vocational Course

With the roll out of National Education Policy (NEP 2020) vocational education has gained the much-required highlight. Policy focuses on bringing vocational education into mainstream education. Children in Jamghat homes and daycare are even more in need to get trained in a vocation that could help them in securing a job as they turn 18 years.

During the year adolescent children of Aangan Day Cay Centre were encouraged to choose vocational courses of their choice. Jamghat Counsellor assisted 16 adolescent children of Aangan in choosing a better career option by providing a series of career counselling sessions and encouraged them to enrol in vocational trainings. Three children enrolled themselves in the vocational courses such as mobile repairing, automobile mechanic. Few other children are also lined up to enrol in beautician course.

During the year professionals from various fields interacted with children and guided children about the professions. Major Sourav of India Army conducted a carrier guidance workshop in Aanchal & Aman home and answered to several queries of children. Professionals from Taj Hotel conducted the session on carrier guidance with Aanchal and Aman home's children and informed about the various jobs that hospitality industry offers. Similarly other professionals were also invited.

One of our children of Aanchal home who is completing her 18 years have joined vocational training for beauty salon at VLCC. This was possible with the collaboration of Udayan Care. Girl is also continuing her education from NIOS.

A boy of Aman home cleared his Physiotherapy Technician vocational training course from ITI with 78% marks. After the course he is doing internship in physiotherapy department of Hindu Rao Hospital.

Celebrations, Recreation, Exposure, Creativity

Celebrations and exposure visits are both important in the lives of children as they offer different types of learning experiences that can contribute to their overall growth and development. Jamghat has always tried to create an environment for children where they can achieve their maximum potential and therefore ensure children celebrate and are exposed to new healthy environment from time to time.

Celebrations in Jamghat such as birthdays, holidays, and cultural events provide children with the opportunity to learn about different traditions, values, and beliefs. These events allow children to socialize with others and learn about different ways of celebrating and expressing oneself. Celebrations also provide children with a sense of belonging and identity within their community, which can help build self-esteem and confidence.

During the year exposure visits, on the other hand, provided children with opportunities to explore the world outside of their immediate surroundings. Exposure visits organised were both educational and fun, where children learned about new things and had the opportunity to experience them first-hand. The idea of exposure visits is also to inspire children to develop new interests and passions. Moreover by participating in these events, children can broaden their horizons, develop new skills, and build positive relationships with others.

On 30th of October, we celebrated Jamghat's 18th birthday as fun day at Aanchal & Aman Home & Aangan Day Care Center. All children decorated their respective homes and planned different games and had fun with music and dance. On this occasion the alumni of Jamghat also participated in the celebrating Jamghat's Birthday and shared about their journeys.

In the month of November, monthly activity 'Fun Day' was organised wherein all children went for a picnic at Sundar Nursery, Delhi. It was rejuvenating and much needed outing after a year due to the restrictions of pandemic. Visit to the garden was fun as well knowledgeable. Children learnt about various trees and plants.

In the month of December children celebrated Christmas day as ‘Fun day’. Children visited Bangala Sahib Gurudwara and Sacred Heart Cathedral and saw the lightings and Christmas decorations.

Children celebrated festival of Eid-Ul-Zuha, Janmsthami, Raksha Bandhan, Independence Day in both homes and relished special food. Face painting, art work was done on Independence Day.

On 5th September 2021 newly married couple Nisha & Vishal shared their wedding celebrations with 50 children of Aangan Day Care centre & 25 children of Aanchal and Aman homes. Children enjoyed the wedding celebration with good food and gifts from the couple. We are humbled that couple shared their happy moment with children in India while they got married in United States. This precious moment brought smile on the faces of children.

Exposure trip: Aangan children visited Dr. BR Ambedkar Memorial to build understanding on life of Baba Saheb and constitution of India.

Aanchal and Aman Home children went to Kidzania in April. The trip was sponsored by Ms. Vandana Giddings, friend and donor of Jamghat. Children had fun and got chance to learn new things. Children were issued their card for shopping and role-played various professionals.

In Sadak program at all the locations World Environmental Day was celebrated. Children made posters and organized a rally in their locality to spread awareness with slogans such as “Ped lagao, Jeewan Bachao”. Art and craft is one of the best tools to connect with children. In our Sadak project Art and Craft teacher visits all five locations every week and engage children in learning basic sketching, coloring, and craft from waste.

Holi the celebration of oneness was enjoyed in Jamghat with the refreshing dance performances from our children, some quiz competition and a writing competition followed by Holi special lunch. Children enjoy throughout the day and spread positive vibes.

Women's day was also celebrated in Jamghat homes and team members. Women team members including other Jamghat staff and Ekjut women beneficiaries participated in various engaging activities. Later an outing followed by special meal was organized to celebrate the women's day.

SADAK

'Sadak' is a holistic intervention supported by Azim Premji Foundation, which connects street children and the larger population through theatre and other interactive activities and provide education opportunities and life skills including vocational skills to these children so they break their cycle of deprivation and live a dignified life as an adult.

With above mentioned aim in focus, Sadak project has following specific objectives:

1. To influence children, families and communities through theatre, visual arts and counselling to develop their curiosity and imagination so learning becomes fun and thus initiate a process to break their cycle of poverty.
2. To prepare children for a dignified life and livelihood by providing education, life skills, vocational skills, co-curricular skills and counselling inputs.

Jamghat has been working continuously with marginalised homeless children living on the road and children of slums for 18 years. For a long time, the search has also been on, what kind of education system should be created for these children so that they are not deprived of their right to education like the affluent children living within the institution of the family. We worked on to create the answer and the idea came up as 'Sadakshala' – Street School.

Core values of Sadakshala- The Steet School are non-violence, peace, equality, love, friendship.

Learning in the street school- Methodology: Shruti, vision, memory, reading, full of diversity, walking on the path of knowledge of labor practice, searching together, grappling with new questions, understanding, learning all together in the game, telling your own story, and reading the story of others to establish a community.

It is important to conduct such outreach programme at the location where children are based because being used to life on street, neither children nor their parents are motivated nor interested in coming to a full day centre. Sadak is an interactive programme for six days in a week using remedial classes, theatre, visual arts, counselling and parent interaction as core activities.

Project was initiated in July 2021 at 05 locations of Old Delhi. The program is designed in a way that at each location 30-40 children in the age group of 6-18 years will stay connected to Sadakshala for the duration of 03 years. At Sadakshala their young minds will be nurtured and inspired to ask questions – the very first step to learning.

No. of Children - March 2022
Sr No	Location	6 to 12 years		13 to 18 years		Total		Grand total
		Boys	Girls	Boys	Girls	Boys	Girls
1	Shanti Van 1	16	16	5	11	21	27	48
2	Shanti Van 2	13	11	3	1	16	12	28
3	Mithai Pul	20	22	6	3	26	25	51
4	Shastri Park	19	14	0	2	19	16	35
5	Jama Masjid	9	16	0	2	9	18	27
Total		77	79	14	19	91	98	189

Starting with 189 children there was enrolment of 52% girls and 48% boys in Sadakshala. 82% of children coming to Sadakshala were in age group of 6-12 years and only 18% of children were in 13–18-year age group. Due to priority of house work for girls and boys supporting father in income generation the participation of children of 13-18 age group is very less.

Majority of the children in Sadakshala are school going children with 73.5% children going to school but there are 26.5 % children who are school dropout. Major reason of dropping out being irregularity in school. Some children also dropped out due to lack of documents such as Aadhar card, birth certificate and transfer certificate.

1. 16 parents meeting were conducted since inception of the project. Gradually, number of parents is increasing in the monthly parents meeting. Our counsellor conducted session with community women so that they re-live their childhood and discuss the childhood they wished for themselves. Aim was also to inspire mothers to teach their children as well as Jamghat team about local traditions, folk songs, about local food, art and craft.

2. Educators focused on basic knowledge of children as they have been out of school from the last 2 year and there has been major learning loss during the lockdown. Educators worked on to prepare children to resume offline school.
3. With regular sessions children now have started expressing their feelings and raising concerns.
4. Educators are enrolling children in schools and motivating community to support children to be in school.

Covid – 19 Relief work

Second wave of Covid-19 ravaged India, and lockdown made that period worst, in this tough time Jamghat tried to help people by providing dry ration. During the year we distributed dry ration to 500 needy families.

Ration was distributed in 3 phases to support the needy families for longer time.

1st phase of distribution started from 21st of June 2021 in which total 12000 meals were distributed with the support of Azim Premji Foundation to 150 families with average family size of 4 members.

2nd and 3rd phase of distribution was held in the month of August 2021. In the 2nd phase Jamghat team planned to cover areas of North East Delhi- Bela Estate and Shastri Park. From Bela Estate 170 families received dry ration and from Shastri Park 180 Families were supported.

Ekjut

Women of Ekjut have resumed work after long pause due to the covid pandemic. With efforts women have started getting orders. Ekjut completed an order of Jhola bags for British High Commission and blanket bags and other products for Challang Foundation. Apart from these orders, women are also getting orders for stitching daily wear clothes.

Night-walk

This free, 2-hour walk aims to sensitize the public to the needs, dangers, and fun of being a street child. We guide a group of volunteers with the staff through Old Delhi from 8pm-midnight, walking through the streets, visiting shelters, and providing experiential learning about life on the streets. The walk is conducted in the commercial localities of Jama Masjid, Lal Quila, Kodia Pul and Fountain Chowk, which form homes to thousands of homeless children

Theatre

As a Tool for Generating Awareness:

Created and led by Jamghat's volunteers, experienced theatre people in Jamghat's Board and its director, this aspect aims to connect society at large to various social issues. Through street plays, stage plays and theatre workshops, Jamghat works to generate awareness about social issues as well as funds for organizational support, while building awareness of self within these issues. We have worked with organizations such as: Child Rights and You, World Health Organization, World Bank, and International Labour Organization among others, to effectively spread the word about numerous social concerns.

Team Capacity Building

Staff capacity is key area to achieving any goal by providing information and sensitization. Everyone has a unique personality and everyone always needs guidance/support to groom their skills, therefore during the year Jamghat focused on the staff capacity building across various themes.

Jamghat Program Manager – Children's Homes, attended CBCT (Cognitively Based Compassion Training) workshop conducted by SEE Learning India in collaboration with Max

India Foundation and Emory University. The workshops were conducted for a total of 16 hours, spread out over 8 weekly sessions of 2 hours each. In addition to these 8 sessions, there was one orientation session for all the participants before the workshop. The workshop focused on enhancing the inner capacity through meditation and some exercises and benefit our mental health and social emotional wellbeing. Staff learned about compassion as a basic human value, necessary for our survival as communities and flourishing of our species, but also equally important for individuals. It helps to reduce stress, enhance immune function for one's improved wellbeing, gain a better awareness of one's self, extend compassion beyond the nearest few to embrace larger groups.

Artreach workshop was conducted for Jamghat staff by Ms. Ita and Ms. Anarya from Artreach India. Workshop helped the staff to learn useful activities that can be quite useful while working with street children. Some of the interesting activities were Speedy Walk, make a diary from A4 sheet, painting while listening to music, Mirror game etc.

Delhi Commission for Protection of Child Rights (DCPCR) conducted a ToT (Training of Teachers) with support of Pratham. Jamghat's coordinators and educators participated in this training in the month of July. In this workshop educators were trained how to assess child's proficiency in Hindi, Maths and English. This will also ensure sustained learning outcomes of the students in CCI (Child Care Institutions).
